

I urge you not to support HR 4026. Restricting satellite radio from providing paying customers traffic and weather reports is a vote to waste energy. I travel 3000 miles a month and use the traffic reports to pick my route before I arrive in a distant city. As the price of gas goes up, I will rely more and more on my satellite radio service.

The current state of broadcast radio is so poor that I choose to pay for my listening information. Your support of the NAB on this issue will continue to send a message to broadcasters that they control the FCC and congress. Large owners such as Clear Channel put profit first and public service last.
